ASTROLABE WINES

Marlborough / NZ

Simon Waghorn has been honing his craft over four decades and has established a benchmark style of Sauvignon Blanc that reflects an unparalleled diversity of vineyard sources. Careful site selection, expert picking decisions, delicate fruit handling and astute blending are the hallmarks of his Marlborough wines.

Simon's personal style defines an Astrolabe wine — focused, balanced and elegant.

Simon crafts a range of beautiful wines that express the purity and intensity of fruit flavours afforded by the climate and soils of the Marlborough region.

Beach House Wines

Hawkes Bay / NZ

Beach House Wines embodies the quintessential, relaxed lifestyle which kiwis enjoy by the beach. Ralph and Philippa (Chris' parents) who were enticed by this idea, relocated to Hawke's Bay at the same time as Jill and Chris. They moved from a farm on the Pahiataua Track to Te Awanga to help in the venture.

They planted the Levels Vineyard, next to the sea, producing premium Chardonnay and Riesling. The vineyard was grown on stoney beach gravels, where the free draining soil and cool sea breeze provided excellent growing conditions, producing concentrated perfectly ripe fruit with fresh acidity.

Blackenbrook Wines

Nelson / NZ

Blackenbrook

On a gentle north-facing slope near Tasman Village, you'll find Blackenbrook Vineyard, a small volume, high quality winery on a 20ha block owned by the Schwarzenbach Family.

Blackenbrook Vineyard produces seven grape varieties: Sauvignon Blanc, Pinot Gris, Pinot Blanc, Gewürztraminer, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and the Italian red variety Montepulciano. Blackenbrook is accredited by Sustainable Winegrowing New Zealand.

Our family has both New Zealand and Swiss heritage and we derived the winery's name from an anglicised version of Schwarzenbach. In German, schwarz means black and bach means brook or stream.

The Boneline

Waipara / NZ

THE BONE LINE

The Boneline is situated deep in the Waipara Valley, snuggled in the lee of the Teviotdale hills that provide protection from cool easterly winds but open to warming north west winds. The protective Southern Alps ensure low rainfall, abundant sunshine and often very warm summers, helped by the famed hot, dry nor'wester winds, though cooling sea breezes and the occasional cold southerly fronts temper this. Drought risk is mitigated by irrigation.

Canterbury's long dry autumns coupled to good diurnal variance help provide phenolic ripeness, complexity and a variety of styles. Growing Degree Days for the Waipara region range between 1,000 - 1,200.

Doctors Flat

Central Otago / NZ

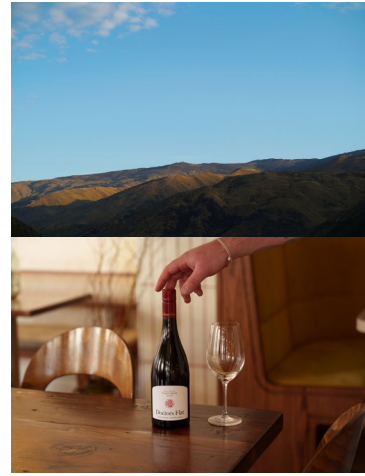

Doctors Flat

Doctors Flat Vineyard is an organically farmed 3-hectare vineyard in Bannockburn, Central Otago. The soil is deep gold-bearing gravels deposited by receding glaciers about 480,000 years ago. The area was intensively mined for gold throughout the 1800s, the claim here was held by the Deep Lead & Doctors Flat Mining Co. However, the gold and gravel of the vineyard block were left largely undisturbed.

The three hectares of Pinot Noir were planted in 2002: five blocks combining two rootstocks and three Dijon clones (114, 115 and 777) on VSP trellis. The clones, selections from Burgundy, have adapted perfectly and are more at home than the original Central Otago selections.

DOMAINE REWA

Today, Domaine Rewa, known for its exceptional organic and biodynamic Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, and Riesling, is set to merge its expertise with the artistry of The French Potter. Their collaboration will result in a distinctive and textured Pinot Gris, crafted in a clay amphora pot. As the Fourbets acknowledge, with the passage of time in the vineyard and the establishment of the pottery works, “the harder they work, the luckier they get.”

Yannick’s dream extends beyond the vineyard, aiming to create New Zealand’s inaugural clay amphora pot—an embodiment of terroir that delves deep into the vineyard’s roots, promising the most authentic reflection of its essence.

CENTRAL OTAGO

The Alexandra sub-region is a large basin and its topography and location deliver both the highest and lowest temperatures in Central Otago, with extreme fluctuations never more evident than during summer and autumn, when the grapes are ripening.

On the south side of the basin, across the Clutha River from Alexandra township, are the warm north facing slopes, where you will find Grasshopper Rock on Earnsclough Road.

The vineyard takes its name from a rare grasshopper, Sigaus childi, which is found only in Central Otago, and predominantly on the Earnsclough gold tailings, which lie along the Clutha River, across the road from the vineyard.

Humdinger Gin

South Canterbury / NZ

It began at a wedding in 2019 - a few loose words, a fair bit of encouragement, some wild imaginings and a decent dose of bravado. A copper still followed and Humdinger was born.

Humdinger's resident tinkerer is Andrew Lewis, a professional engineer who obsesses over making each batch of gin smoother than the last, while his better half, Saskia, a technologist by trade and a biologist by training, jazzes things up, adding the spice and enriching the flavour!

When they're not slinging gin, this ingenious couple who dared to dream big are their own general dogsbodies - developing recipes, breaking rules, building, labelling, marketing and making.

No. 1
Family Estate

No. 1 Family Estate was established in 1997 and is Daniel and Adele Le Brun's second New Zealand venture. While Daniel makes the wine, Adele provides the business and marketing flair. The next generation of Le Bruns, son Remy and daughter Virginie, are the faces of the future and are actively involved in building the No. 1 brand across the world.

Since producing his first Méthode Traditionnelle wine, No.1 Cuvée, in 1999 there have been many awards and accolades for our wines and our exceptional winemaker.

Papaiti Gin

Whanganui / NZ

It all began when in May 2021 we fell in love with a house just outside of Whanganui, New Zealand and decided to relocate from windy Wellington. The house, as it happened, came with two sizeable pear orchards, and that's when people started asking us: What are you going to do with all the pears?

Turns out, the answer was: gin. Fast forward a couple of months and we're neck deep in preparing to launch a craft gin distillery on the banks of the Whanganui river.

We're passionate about sourcing as many botanicals as we can locally and try to stay close to home: we use pears, kawakawa, lemon, lime, figs, quince, and rosemary all of which are growing right behind our house.

PENKRIDGE

FARM

Penkridge Farm nestles between the spectacular Pisa Range and Lake Dunstan in the middle of Central Otago, New Zealand. Famous for hot summers, biting cold winters, and stunning scenery, historically fine wool and stone fruit dominated land use here, but more recently the ability to grow the fickle pinot noir grape has grabbed world attention.

The Farm is home to a boutique vineyard, producing pinot noir and pinot gris grapes, has a small flock of sheep and plans in place to grow olives and truffles.

Sandymount Distillery

Dunedin / NZ

When distiller Richard Wilson and his family moved to the stunning Sandymount estate on the Otago Peninsula, the idea of Sandymount Distillery was conceived.

With spring water bubbling to the surface just up the hill and an abundance of native flora outside the door, Richard decided that this location was perfect for the distillery he has since built. Sandymount Distillery is Otago Peninsula's only distillery.

Made by hand in small batches, there is imagination and craftsmanship in every bottle.

Tantalus Estate

Waiheke Island / NZ

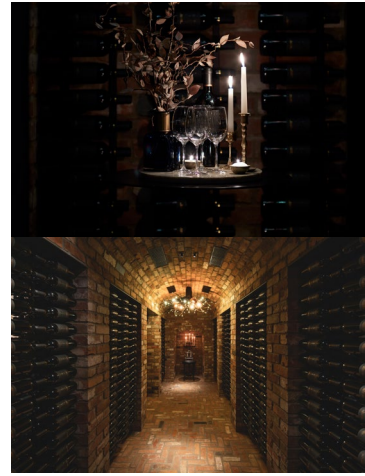

TANTALUS ESTATE

Tantalus Estate was founded in 2013 on 8.3 hectares of established vineyard land on Waiheke Island. The estate is in the One-tangi Valley at an elevation of 12 to 61 metres above sea level. The valley is the heart of winemaking on the island.

Waiheke lies 18km east of Auckland in the Hauraki Gulf, protected from the cold and often wet west and southwesterly winds. Ridgelines to our west and southwest provide further protection. Our climate is drier and hotter than the mainland and is ideally suited to premium grape growing.

Tony's creative spirit was unleashed in 2013, following a trip to South America where he experienced wine produced in egg-shaped tanks.

He recently opened Tony Bish Wines, his new Napier base within The Urban Winery in Ahuriri. It's a spectacular setting within an historic Art Deco building, which now houses a working winery, a cellar door and a space for gourmet experiences as well as the distribution centre for Tony Bish Wines. For Bish, it's an inner-city sanctuary dedicated to producing world-class wine. It's a bespoke space where he can handcraft his beloved chardonnay, using innovative techniques.

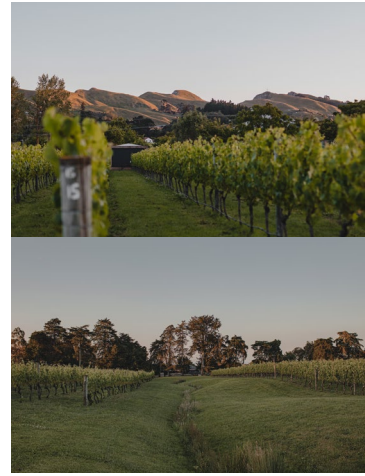

Village Vineyards

Hawkes Bay / NZ

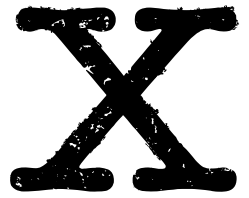

In 2019, 265 Te Mata Road and its vineyard was purchased by our family. Under the guidance of our son Rhys, Village Vineyards was established. The story highlights our early days as orchardists in Havelock North and the vast struggles and triumphs that came with them. The changing landscape brought a shift from orchard to vineyard whilst the areas artisanal culture continued to thrive. Neighboring growers and artists inspire our contribution which is to make wines that champion rural Havelock North. Our philosophy is straightforward; responding to the lands unique voice and respecting it with organic, hands-on viticulture.

X Wines

Hawkes Bay & Marlborough / NZ

X Wines is the own-label venture of Tim Adams, a viticultural and winemaking consultant for Marlborough Wines Ltd. He was formerly with Astrolabe Wines. Tim oversees the MLW vineyards in Marlborough and works with growers in Gisborne and Central Otago. Tim has been making Syrah from a tiny shared vineyard of 450 vines in the upper Brancott Valley since 2011.

His brand includes a selection of wines made from grapes sourced from across various regions in NZ. These wines include Syrah, Rosé and Chardonnay, all sourced from Hawkes Bay. Tim also managed a tiny block in Marlborough, where he sources his fruit for the Basket Pressed Syrah.
